High Reliability Behaviors and Tools for non-employed Providers and contractors

Professional Staff are required to complete the High Reliability Behaviors and Tools online training within 90 days of appointment.

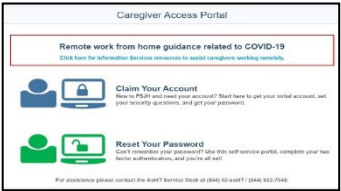

For Providence and our affiliates, becoming a highly reliable organization means achieving and sustaining high performance with an internally driven safety focus. Through our High Reliability initiative, and the behavior of every caregiver, we are shaping a culture of reliability that will enable us to consistently achieve – every time, every place– the safest, highest quality clinical outcomes.

Our region’s training teaches attendees the tones, tools, and behaviors of High Reliability. All caregivers, employed and non-employed, are required to complete this training.
